CITY OF APPLETON

LATEST!

Quarters for 3000 prisoners, at Camp Douglas, Chicago, have been ordered by Gen. Halleck. Also he has sent a similar dispatch to have equal accommodations at Madison and Milwaukee.

We have taken possession of Corinth, according to latest advices. Gen. Grant's body has been found on the battle field. Beauregard has lost an arm—pity it wasn't his head!

Chicago, Milwaukee, Madison, Cincinnati, &c., have donated assistance to our wounded men.

With a few exceptions, the whole rebel force around Island No. Ten are prisoners. An attempt was made by them to cross to Reelfoot, but they were surrounded and compelled to surrender. Thirteen steamboats were taken, instead of the number previously reported. Fifteen say seventy were killed on the Island by the mortars.

Gov. Harvey has gone to Tenn. with aid for our troops. The 11th, 14th, 15th and 18th Wis. reg'ts were in the big fight. Tribune's despatch places our loss at between 600 to 1000 killed; wounded 3000 to 4000; rebels lost twice that number. Six of our batteries were taken and retaken 6 times.

Sec'y Stanton has ordered the army chaplains to offer thanks to Almighty God for our recent victories; also compliments of officers and men for bravery.

The rebel prisoners state that Beauregard made a speech to his troops before entering the fight, saying that he would water his horse in the Tennessee River or in hell, and that the fight before them was hell unless successful.

From Burnside we have news that he has besieged Fort Moccasin.

The lying prophet, Russell, has gone home to England.

The Land Grant.

We have seen the joint resolution now before Congress, in regard to the Land Grant. It allows the North-Eastern road to be built on any line between the limits of ranges 16 and 23, provided that the whole quantity of land to be given to the State shall not be increased.

There are two interesting features in it. One is the provision made for those who have bought lands at $2.50 per acre on the line as now located, relying on the Government to see that they get value for the double price they paid, in the advantage of nearness to the road. These men are kindly permitted the privilege of selecting other lands from the even sections within six miles of the new line. Now the Company make no point of the fact that their new line will terminate at Green Bay, and it would be edifying to see a pilgrim from Shawano County inquiring for a vacant even section among the farmers within 6 miles of that line on either side. He might have a chance, if he should live till the Onondaga Reserve came into market, but with that exception, Uncle Sam has nothing to offer in these parts. The settlers will hardly appreciate this privilege very highly, as a man who has paid double price for his land, and made $500 or $1000 worth of improvements, and has a good farm and orchard started and is listening every day for the whistle of the locomotive, for the hope of which he paid the United States $2.00, would not like to be told, "The R. R. Company that had agreed to build your road did not want to, because they could make another road pay better; so you will not have any work, nor can you get your money back; but if you can find a vacant even numbered quarter section, within six miles of the new road, you can leave your improvements and move on to it." "I don't know," says the settler, "what such tricks are called when Government plays them, but if any of my neighbors acted so, I should call it a swindle followed by an insult."

Now it would really seem as if a Railroad Company, asking from Government a bonus of 240 sections of land without any consideration whatever, would be satisfied with that, but it occurred to the Chicago & North-Western that the Fort Howard Reserve, owned by the United States, lay near their northern terminus; that it would be a reproach to the Company if the United States should be allowed to own anything of value within the Company's reach, without giving it at least two-thirds. So this resolution provides for a donation to the Company of eighty acres, to be selected by the Company, out of the Reserve, provided that the Government keeps the site of the fort. Of course the argument is, that the building of the road and location of the terminus make the rest of the Reserve so much more valuable. Now there are many land owners at Fort Howard besides the Government. Some of them own a great deal of land, and are very desirous to get rid of it, but there is not an officer of the Company that would dare to make such a proposal to any other land holder, as the Company does to the United States. There is not a land owner at Fort Howard that would listen for an instant to such a proposal.

The best of it is, that the resolution goes on to provide for the division of the other lands on the reserve, after the 80 acres are selected, into lots, and for the sale thereof; just as if the Company would leave the Government anything worth dividing or selling; just as if town lots would be sold in Fort Howard, after a Railroad was built there, outside of the Company's 80 acres. The Company takes all the cream of the reserve, in consideration of the increased value which their road gives to the remainder. The remainder aforesaid, being unobtainable now, will be equally so then, and the Company, having opened the oyster for the United States and "selected" 80 acres of clear oyster as a reward for their labors, will look with great interest on the efforts of the United States to dispose of the shells.

Jealous Again.—That grunting, whining, old maid of a Pioneer, Ginty, Oconto, is enjoying a fit of hysterics, because we don't denigrate the Company command led by Capt. Conkey, the "Union Dragon"!! Well, indeed! it's possible! Well, indeed! it's possible! Yes, ah! Well, Mr. "Figurer," to set your gizzard at rest, here goes: Oconto forever! "Union Dragons!!" We (Oconto) furnished half the men; we get all the officers but Capt. Conkey for us! Appleton hasn't sent a man to war; we have turned out all our available force, except Ginty; can't possibly spare him; not even to save his country.

Or here, if the other don't suit: The "Union Dragons!!" (Call the men came from Oconto—Oconto Pioneer) is as good a Company of men as has yet started for the South. All the officers are a fine set of fellows, even if they have had the unfortunate association of Ginty of Oconto.

Our brilliant Legislature has reduced the printer's legal rates very materially. This is unjust. The printer dearly earns his daily bread, and the legal rates are previously existing, except in cases of great length of matter, were not a cent too high. But it was necessary for some of those blunder heads to immortalize themselves, and they thought the printer was the individual to pitch into. The bill was got through in a blind—no man did not know that there was such a bill being urged. Shame on men who would rob the printer of his hard earned fees.

The Legislature, before adjourning, passed a bill suspending the advertising and sale of all tax lists in the State and assessments also. The bill provides that the Treasurer's list shall not be published previous to the last Monday in July, and the sale put off until Sept. Assessments not to be made until Sept. However, this will not deter any who wish from paying their taxes in the interim.

It is a beautiful kind of ash, taking it altogether. We hope bottom may be found to the thing somewhere.

DEATH OF JANE WOOLFE.—We have a duty to perform in announcing the death of Jane Woolfe. He died this morning about ten o'clock. For some months past Mr. W. had been in failing health, but had never shared a confident hope of recovery. No man possessed a kinder heart or more benevolent impulses than Mr. W., and to a large circle of friends at home and abroad, his death will come like a personal affliction.—Journalist's Gazette.

Island No. 10 Captured!

SIX HUNDRED PRISONERS, AMMUNITION, 70 HEAVY GUNS!

Important from Newberne!

The Most Terrible Battle of Modern Times.

THE REBELS SCOOPED!

Horrible Slaughter!

We-kegion, April 9th.—The following was received at the Navy Department this morning.

I-land No. 10, April 8.—I have to inform the department that since I left the tele gram last night, announcing the surrender to me of Island No. 10, possession has been taken both of the Island and the works upon the Tennessee shore by the gunboats and the troops under command of Gen. Buell.

Seventeen officers and three hundred and sixty-eight privates, besides one hundred of their sick, and one hundred men engaged on board the transports are in our hands, except a few prisoners of war.

I have caused a large examination to be made of the contents of the Island, and have found that there are eleven cannon, varying in calibre from thirty-two to one hundred pounds, &c.

The magazines are well supplied with powder. There are large quantities of shot and shell and other munitions of war, and also great quantities of provisions. Four steamers have fallen into our hands, and two others, with the rebel gunboats, Grant guns, are sunk, and will be easily raised.

The floating battery, of 16 heavy guns, turned about by the rebels, is now being towed to the Missouri shore, below New Madrid.

The enemy upon the main land appear to have fled with great precipitation after dark last night, leaving in many cases, half-prepared men in their quarters, and there seems to have been no concert of action on the part of the rebels. The telegraph wires have been cut, and the latter, leaving the former to their fate.

These works, erected with the highest engineering skill, are of great strength, and with the natural advantages, would have been impregnable, if defended by men fighting in a better cause. A combined attack of the naval and land forces would have taken place this p. m., or to-morrow morning, had not the rebels so hastily abandoned this stronghold.

To mature the plans of attack absolutely required twenty-four days of preparation. Gen. Pope is momentarily expected to arrive with his army at the point. He having successfully crossed the river yesterday, under a heavy fire which, no doubt, led to the hasty abandonment of the works.

I am unofficially informed that the two gunboats, which so gallantly ran the fire of the rebel batteries a few nights since, yesterday, attacked and reduced a fort of the enemy opposite, dismounting eight heavy guns.

Flag Officer Conkey.

Pittsburgh, Penn., April 9.—One of the greatest and bloodiest battles of modern times has just closed, resulting in the complete rout of the enemy, who attacked us at daybreak Sunday.

The battle lasted without intermission during the entire day, and was again renewed on Monday, and was continued until four o'clock in the afternoon, when the enemy commenced their retreat, and are still flying toward Corinth, pursued by a large force of our cavalry.

The slaughter on both sides is terrible. We have lost, in killed, wounded and missing, 8,000. That of the enemy is estimated at 10,000.

The rebels advanced on "Pretence" Division on the left wing, pouring volley after volley of musketry and riddling our camps with grape, canister and shell. Our forces stood firm in line and returned their fire vigorously, and by the time we were prepared to receive them, had turned their fire on the left and center of Sherman's Division, and drove our men back from their camps, and bringing up a fresh force, opened fire on our left wing, under Gen. McClernand. This fire was returned with terrible effect and determined along the whole line, for a distance of over four miles.

Gen. Harburt's Division was thrown forward to support the center, when a desperate conflict ensued. The rebels were driven back with terrible slaughter, but soon rallied and drove back our men in turn.

The rebels exhibited remarkable good generalship; at times engaging the left wing of our army, they would suddenly open a terrific and destructive fire on the right or center. The fire of Major Taylor's Chicago Artillery raked them down in order, but the smoke would not sooner be dispersed than the breach would again be filled.

The most desperate fighting took place late in the afternoon. The rebels became aware that we were being re-enforced, as they could see Gen. Buell's troops from the river bank a short distance above us on the left, to which point they had forced their way.

At 5 o'clock the rebels had forced our left wing back so as to occupy fully two thirds of our camp, and were fighting their way forward, with a desperate degree of confidence in their efforts to drive us into the river, and at the same time heavily engaged our right wing.

Up to this time we had received no reinforcements.—Gen. Lew. Wallace, failing to come to our support until the day was over, having taken the wrong road from Camp Landing. We were without other transports than those used for Quartermaster's and Commissary stores, which were too heavily laden to ferry any considerable number of Gen. Buell's forces across the river; those that were here having been sent to bring the troops from Savannah.

We were, therefore, contending against fearful odds, our force not exceeding 38,000 men, while that of the enemy was upwards of 60,000. Our condition, therefore, was extremely critical. Large numbers of men, anxious to fight, were out by hard fighting, with the average poor courage of shulkers, had struggled towards the river and could not be rallied. Gen. Grant and staff, who had been recklessly following along the line during the entire day and the evening, during the bullets, grape and shell, now rode from right to left, leaving the men to cross the river.

Col. Webster, Chief of Staff, immediately got into position the heaviest pieces of artillery, pointing on the enemy's right, while a large number of batteries were planted along the entire line from the river bank N. W. to our extreme right, some 2½ miles distant. About an hour before dark, a general command was issued upon the enemy from along our whole line, with a perpetual crack of musketry.

The gunboats Lexington and Tyler kept running shell on the rebel hordes. This last effort was too much for the enemy, and he drew back the firing and ceased; when, again coming out, all the companies of the army, from the left to the right, opened fire, and advanced rapidly as the rebels fell back.

The fire soon became general along the whole line, and began to tell with terrible effect upon the enemy.

The tactics of the rebels at all points were entirely wrong. A better course yet they were not enough for our audacity and bravery, and the dreadful devastation caused by our artillery, which were sweeping them away like chaff before the wind. But knowing that defeat here would be a death blow to their hopes, their Generals still urged them on in the face of destruction, hoping, by flanking us on the right, to turn the tide of battle. Their success was again ground on our audacity and bravery, and they were not enough for our audacity and bravery, and the dreadful devastation caused by our artillery, which were sweeping them away like chaff before the wind. Second Ward School commences again, on Monday next.

At Shiocton, the Wolf is clear of ice.

Allen & Jackson are thoroughly overhauling the Drug Store, refitting, &c., and will keep a first class institution.

The Sugar season at or about Shiocton, up to the 8th inst., had not made its appearance.

Our Assemblyman, Hon. Milo Cole, passed through Levan, on his way home from Madison, Tuesday last.

Mr. McVade, of Shiocton predicts that the coming summer will prove to be the warmest we have witnessed since 1845.

Morse & Jordan of Shiocton will have a tug to ply between their Mill and the lower Wolf and upper Fox, to move their lumber and shingles. A good idea.

By reference to our Directory it will be seen that the Baptist Church has changed the hour of their afternoon service until 3 o'clock. Bear this in mind.

The storm of the season has greatly interfered with the sugar manufacture, and it is feared a small return will be the result.

Thank to Joe Harrison for late papers. Joe always keeps the latest, newest and most readable papers, periodicals and serials. Stop in and see him.

Thanks to Hon. F. R. Hull, for a copy of the "Report on the Geological Survey of Wisconsin," Vol. I, by James Hall and J. D. Whitney. Its a valuable addition to our library.

Next week we will try to publish the able report on Lawrence University, made to the Legislature, by A. S. Sanborn, as well as the bill passed, exempting 10,000 acres of land from taxation, together, with remarks.

Next week we shall give the "Premium List of the Outagamie Agricultural Society," and all who wish extras please give us notice as early as Tuesday morning next.

Call and see Hart & Waters, at the "Union Market," in the "Old Corner Store," if you want anything, from a chunk of beef to a pound of tobacco. Advertisement next week.

The M. E. Church has held religious meetings this week since Monday night. The other Churches have lessened the number of their meetings, but continue in their zeal and watchfulness. Appleton has received much good from these revivals.

Our enterprising bookkeeper, Mr. G. M. Smith, has his talk with our readers this week. Articles useful, substantial, tasty, ornamental and beautiful, greet the eye of the visitor, and so temptingly arranged that resistance is useless—you must buy.

Arrangements have been made to have the ravine bridge, in the Fourth Ward, repaired immediately. Mr. Samuels Kelly will soon put it in good shape again, and this bridge will necessarily be impassable for a few days, while the work is being done.

Mr. Frank W. Allen, the contractor on the repairs of the South Channel Bridge, has his timber nearly all framed, and when ready to put it in, will have to stop team travel over the bridge for ten days or thereabouts. We presume that Mr. McDonald, the gentlemanly Sup't of the Improvement Co., will allow travellers to use the canal bank, if it is not to muddy too endanger the bank.

Travelers will please make a note of the fact that we now have one train a day. The evening train has been temporarily dispensed with, we believe on account of the bad state of the road. This rather puts us back somewhat, as passengers now have to stop over night, at either Oshkosh or Fond du Lac. And our Mails arrive at noon—so we are behind time on news. It is not likely that this state of things will long exist.

The memory of our "oldest inhabitant" has been taxed in vain to recall the occurrence of such a heavy storm as we have witnessed this week, at this late season in the spring. A considerable quantity of snow fell, and was blown into piles all over the country hereabouts. This storm prolongs the winter a couple of weeks, at least. Hay is very scarce and high. Cattle must suffer before grass comes.

Our thanks are due to Orange Judd of New York for valuable seeds which he sent along as a present to us. Mr. Judd publishes the most valuable Agricultural monthly Journal published on this continent at the very low rate of one dollar a year and to cap the climax he gives his subscribers nearly a dollar's worth of seeds in the bargain. Address, O. Judd 41 Park Row, New York.

FAREWELL.—Mr. D. G. Caldwell, formerly Agent for the C. & N. W. Railway Company at Appleton, and one of our most genial acquaintances, took his departure from our place, for his home at Little Falls, N. Y., on Saturday last. We do not know whether he intends again returning to Appleton or not. Mr. C. has, by his gifts of heart and mind, by his general upright course, and by his social qualities, commanded the respect of community, and will ever bear with him the best wishes of our people.

Send in the names. Remember that our new Vol. commences on the 1st of May, and that any time before that date, will be the best time to subscribe. And don't forget, too, that we must have our pay in advance. If any of our present subscribers, who have been in arrears for considerable time, find themselves without the Crescent, please remember that we cannot afford to send it without our pay. Our disposition to send papers to everyone is good enough, but this disposition will not give us means to buy our printing, paper, &c. So you see how it is—you must assist us, and we shall try to amply remunerate you for your kind assistance. Send your cash, or its equivalent, and we will send you the Crescent.

That contemptible nuisance of a Draw Bridge has at last been tinkered up so that it may now be used. About every seven years it has been built, as well as during the summer, the city is called upon to foot a large bill for repairs. If the city had set fire to it when it was first built and had a decent bridge built, it would actually have been a saving of money as well as many hard words. We believe that if the city could be got at, we would find that the draw has cost at least $2,000. It is a monument of disgrace to even a once-laboring town, much more to the city of Appleton. The rookery may make out a miserable existence for this season, but it will have to be replaced by a new one before another summer. "That's what's the matter."

Last Saturday evening, the students of Lawrence University turned out in force, marched up in the cars and escorted their worthy President home. On their way to the depot the boys made merry music, whistling Yankee Doodle, &c. Well, the students feel like rejoicing with us at the success which has attended the untiring efforts of Prof. Mason, in securing the passage, by the Legislature, of the bill exempting 10,000 acres of land from tax. The friends of Lawrence University may well rejoice at this wise legislation in favor of liberal education. If properly managed, this will prove to be of immense advantage to the Institution. Now let ye who are land poor, give liberally to Lawrence University. But don't donate your worthless lands, for the sake of getting rid of them; give some of your valuable lots and acres, and rely upon it, these donations will be used to benefit the country by sending men and women, ready to enter at once into the busy arena of life, with the impress of your beneficence stamped on their characters.

SABRE PRESENTATION.—Some of our enterprising citizens raised a purse and purchased a beautiful sword for Capt. Theo. Conkey, of Co. 1, Third Wis. Cavalry, which was presented to him on Thursday morning last. On behalf of the citizens, Mr. John Jewett, Jr., made the presentation speech—which was brief and neatly done—alluding to the worth and esteem in which the gallant Capt. is held by us, his fellow citizens, touchingly treating on the position he now occupies as a military man and of our interest in his welfare, trusting that the sword presented might ever be wielded in defence of the Union and the maintenance of its laws, &c.

Capt. Conkey replied that he could not make a set speech—that he appreciated the kindness of his fellow townsmen in this testimonial of their feelings toward him, and that while he had power to draw the sword, he should never dishonor it, but should wield it for the right. That he thanked them kindly, for this beautiful weapon, and trusted when the war shall have closed up, to return with it. Quite a number of our people assembled at the Depot to see the gallant Capt. off for the war. Mr. S. P. Ming and P. J. Gates, both old residents of this place joined his Co., and left with him.

Kindly adieus were spoken, the friendly grasp of the hand exchanged, and away they go. May they all return to us again, unscathed in the fiery ordeal they may be called upon to encounter, and Heaven's choicest blessings attend them during their absence.

AN APPLETON BOY TURNED LECTURER.—The Monticello (Minn.) Union mentions very favorably a lecture at that place by Wm. D. Storey, Esq., of St. Paul. Subject, "Imaginative Literature." The Union writes:

Wm. D. Storey, a young man of great ability, but who has not yet reached the maturity of his powers, delivered a most interesting and instructive lecture on the subject of "Imaginative Literature." He treated of the history of the imagination, and of the various forms it assumes in literature. He showed how the imagination has been the source of all the great poetry and prose of the world, and how it has been the source of all the great art and science of the world. He showed how the imagination has been the source of all the great progress of the world, and how it has been the source of all the great happiness of the world. He showed how the imagination has been the source of all the great glory of the world, and how it has been the source of all the great power of the world. He showed how the imagination has been the source of all the great beauty of the world, and how it has been the source of all the great truth of the world. He showed how the imagination has been the source of all the great goodness of the world, and how it has been the source of all the great wisdom of the world. He showed how the imagination has been the source of all the great love of the world, and how it has been the source of all the great hope of the world. He showed how the imagination has been the source of all the great faith of the world, and how it has been the source of all the great charity of the world. He showed how the imagination has been the source of all the great courage of the world, and how it has been the source of all the great patience of the world. He showed how the imagination has been the source of all the great gentleness of the world, and how it has been the source of all the great meekness of the world. He showed how the imagination has been the source of all the great kindness of the world, and how it has been the source of all the great lowliness of the world. He showed how the imagination has been the source of all the great modesty of the world, and how it has been the source of all the great self-control of the world. THE CRESCENT.

ANDY JOHNSON AT NASHVILLE.—Andy Johnson's speech at Nashville last Wednesday, was a eloquent defence of the Union. In the course of his remarks he said:

"Though exiled my wife driven hither and thither; her servants stolen; my home a rebel hospital—how could I desert the glorious Government under which I had been so richly and abundantly blessed, and under which so many of my fellow beings have enjoyed, and do enjoy, so boundedly the boon of liberty and security!"

"He pointed in telling terms the track of desolation that secessionist left. Bridges, crops, dwellings destroyed; brother arrayed against brother in deadly conflict; families torn asunder; widows broken hearted, and orphans crying for bread. All such scenes as these are on the track of the secessionist's tread. He pointed the eyes of the secessionists present to this scene, and asked, was it not enough! had they not suffered enough at the hands of this accursed monster!"

"Had they not been duped and deceived by such as Davis, Toombs and the like long enough! Would they not see their fate! He searched them with the question, was there a man there who had lost a single right or been deprived of a single privilege under the Constitution? They were entreated to ponder and reflect upon the suicidal course; to remember that 'the soul of liberty was the love of law,' that there was no hope for us but in reverence for the Constitution and laws of the country."

"The Governor closed by a most affecting allusion to East Tennessee, where his desolate home was, and his sick and wife. His voice rang out like a clarion through the silent city, calling upon his countrymen to come forward in the defence of his beloved State; to show their hands, to fear not and speak out. He declared his willingness to share with them any and all dangers for the rescue of Tennessee from the jaws of the infernal monster."

A Noble Lord in the English Peerage.—A noble lord, recently, in a railway carriage, took a fancy to a pretty traveler. She was the daughter of a miller, and going to be a scullery servant in London. He prevailed upon her not to go, took lodging—very respectably—and asked her to reside there three weeks, at the end of which time she was, without knowing who he was, to give a son or any to his proposal of marriage. She was well advised, and when the noble lord called for the reply, she made a low courtesy, and said, "Yes, sir, if you please," and she became my lady.—Home Jour.

SIAMSE CUSTOMS.—A husband, in Siam, can cancel a debt by the lease of his wife to the creditor. There is a regular tariff for hire, also, as follows: The penalty for killing a babe of from one to three months, is six "tuel," or about $3.50; for a child of four years, about $10; for a boy of fifteen, about $15; and for a man between twenty six and forty, nearly $30. Beyond the age of forty years, the penalties decrease, so that it is no more expensive to kill an old man than eighty-six to ninety years than an infant of two months. Women can be killed at two-thirds the rates for males.

Gen. Ethan Allen Hitchcock is said to be on duty at the War Department as consulting officer. It will be recollected that he was some time since tendered the appointment of Major General of volunteers, but declined on account of his advanced age and ill health. He is considered an able officer. He was born in Vermont, and graduated in West Point 45 years ago. His record in the army justly entitles him to distinction. He left the service only a few years ago, having been compelled from a self-respect to resign, owing to his treatment by Jeff Davis when that rebel was Secretary of War.

Mr. Enoch Boone, the first white male child born in Kentucky, died at his residence in Meads county, in that State, on the 8th inst., in his eighty-fifth year. He was born in Bensboro on the 16th of October, 1777. He was a member of the Baptist church for fifty-eight years.

AN ACT to amend chapter 28 of the revised statutes, entitled "of the school and university lands," is hereby amended [so as] to read as follows: "Whenever any school, or university swamp lands shall have been forfeited for the non payment of either principal or interest, and shall have remained forfeited for three months, the school land commissioners shall advertise such land for sale by publication of notices thereof for six weeks, in a newspaper published in the county where the lands lie; that there be any, and if not, then in some newspaper published nearest thereto. Such sale shall be made either in the county where the lands lie, or at the capital in Madison, on some day not less than three months or more than six months, after the first publication of said notice. The notice shall specify the time and place of sale, a description of the lands to be sold, the amount due thereon, and the name of the persons to whom the certificates of sale were issued. And it shall be the further duty of the said commissioners to give notice of the sale of such forfeited lands by advertising in the newspaper published in Madison, in which the laws are officially published, for 6 weeks successively, the time when and the place where such sale will be held, and the county or counties in which such lands are situate."

Sec. 2. So much of any act as requires the publication of notice of sale of any of the lands mentioned in the preceding section, by description, in any newspaper published at Madison, when said lands are situate in the county of Dane, is hereby repealed.

Sec. 3. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

Approved March 21, 1862.
